

W. N. T. C. CAMPUS STATION

The campus radio station, now in its eighth year, is an independent, self-supporting organization which draws its personnel, including membership, from both Clarkson and S. S. T. C. P. Its purpose is to bring to the convenience as possible to its student listening audience.

A more popular feature with the station has been the station's policy of broadcasting as many athletic events as possible. Aside from the various basketball games, the station broadcasted several hockey games which were played out of town. A new transmitter, added last year, seemed to improve the technique and quality of its productions for the ever increasing listening radio audience.

Operating of the radio station requires a large staff of technicians and others proficient in programming, engineering, publicity, and business, which gives the organization the opportunity of bringing together men of different departments and to promote fellowship and student cooperation.
